WHAT DO VOLUNTEERS LOVE ABOUT THE PROGRAM?

"I have learned how incredibly curious little people are, and how they can be scientists at age 5! We need them for our future, for the future of our planet!"

"Receiving the lesson [during training] exactly the way we will pass it on, being with a good group of people who care about the kids and school."

"Going out and scooping critters out of the stream to see and study might have been one of the most exciting sessions!"

“If you want to get to know your kids’ friends and teachers, or just generally connect with the community, consider becoming a Four Winds volunteer. I am living proof that you don’t need a science degree to be a volunteer, just an eagerness to learn and share.”
